(Girdwood, Alaska – December 21st, 2023) In an extraordinary early-season showing, Alyeska Resort proudly announces that over 300 inches of snow have already graced their slopes, nearing the historical maximum recorded in 1999. This impressive early snowfall, a prelude to the average 392 inches received annually over 57 snowfall days, highlights the unique snowfall pattern of Alyeska Resort in Alaska.

"Our resort is witnessing an exceptional early-season snowfall, surpassing the average for this time of year," said Duane Stutzman, Mountain General Manager, at Alyeska Resort. "While we're yet to reach the record-breaking levels of 1999, this year's snowfall is remarkable, with November bringing 153 inches, and December gifting us an astounding 121+ inches. That's 167% above average!"

Alyeska Resort typically experiences a substantial snow distribution throughout the winter months: November (92 inches), December (130 inches), January (120 inches), February (103 inches), March (104 inches), and April (85 inches). This year's early snow accumulation sets the stage for a potentially historic season, offering an unparalleled experience for winter sports enthusiasts.

Skiers and snowboarders are invited to enjoy the over 300 inches of pristine Alaskan snow that has transformed the resort into a winter wonderland. The conditions are ideal for a range of winter activities, promising an exhilarating experience on the slopes. In addition to excellent skiing conditions, the resort offers numerous activities to appreciate the serene Alaskan winter landscape. With calm winds and a high of 26°F, guests are encouraged to explore the luxurious amenities and natural beauty surrounding Alyeska Resort.

Post-slope, guests are invited to embrace the ultimate après-ski experience at the new Alyeska Nordic Spa. Our newly introduced indoor-outdoor retreat offers a sanctuary of hydrotherapy, saunas, and cold exposure treatments designed to rejuvenate the body and spirit after a day on the mountain.

Alyeska Resort boasts an array of accommodations and amenities to satisfy every guest. With 299 meticulously appointed hotel rooms, each stay promises comfort and style. The vibrant entertainment program at the fan-favorite Sitzmark Bar offers a lively atmosphere for relaxation and socializing, while epicurean delights await at the renowned Seven Glaciers restaurant, perched atop Mount Alyeska. Whether it's adventure, wellness, or culinary excellence you seek, Alyeska Resort delivers an unforgettable Alaskan experience.
